HEART ATTACK TAKES RETIRED BUSINESS MAN

J. P. Morgan C

Former Cigar Dealer Lived In City 25 Years

Francis M. McCarrier, familiarly known as "Frank," in business in this city for over 25 years, died suddenly of heart trouble, at his residence at 148 Locust street, Mission Hill, at 4:10 yesterday afternoon.

He had been working in the garden of his home and went into the house and was seated in a chair when suddenly he passed away. He had not been in the best of health for some time but the announcement of his death came as a great shock in this community.

Loyalty was one of McCarrier's strongest traits of character, especially to his friends. He was always willing to aid and support his friends in every way.

He had great interest in the community where he resided and stood for all that promoted civic welfare and improvement. He took a keen interest in city, state and national politics.

McCarrier was born in New York City 60 years ago. California was his home 20 years and Santa Cruz for 27 years.

Until a few years ago, until the time of his retirement, he was a cigar and tobacco merchant of the city and many stopped at his place of business just to have a social conversation with their friend.

He married Luena Holst. She was a member of a Lempe family, one of the most highly esteemed in that valley. She was a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Lempe and a great granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hall, a pioneer family of this city. The family home was, for many years, on Locust street where he passed away.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Luena McCarrier; a daughter, Helen; a brother, Owen McCarrier, of Visalia, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Barr of Sioux Falls.

In fraternal relations he was a member of the Santa Cruz Lodge of Elks and Santa Cruz Aerie of Eagles.

The body was removed to the Weisendof Mortuary.

Deceased was one of the most enthusiastic promoters of the Greater Santa Cruz Oil company, which financed the De Laveaga well, preparing for oil in the city park, and as one of the committee of 35 stockholders whose duty it was to sell stock to keep the company financed, he labored day and night, selling by his own efforts over $20,000 worth of stock.

He was a personal friend of the late Howard Trafton, sheriff of Santa Cruz county and first president of the oil company during the first two years of drilling, assisting Trafton in every way toward making the enterprise a success.
